PATRAKALA TABLES

These hand crafted Tables are a manifestation of the Refraction of Light, passing through an medium. The deflections of the moving light is poetically captures by the angles, folds and facets of the brass sheets that form the sides of the table.

These sheets are seamlessly attached at the edges to create a hour glass shaped dynamic form representing movement and flamboyance of light. The top of the tables an Heptagonal plane, decorated with a beautiful repoussé texture, inspired by the section of a grand tree trunk.

TULSI TABLE

Tulsi table draws its inspiration from the Tulsi Plant (Holy basil), the drop shapes are representative of the Tulsi leaves, and the circular forms are representing the seeds of the Tulsi Plants, both having spiritual significance in Indian culture. The unique and bold look of the table makes this piece a conversation starter.

Bird Watcher's Chair

While designing this Chair, the designers have envisioned an outdoor chair in which all the elements are functional contributions that ensure the comfort of the seat for prolonged periods of relaxation. The chair structure is made of strong mild steel and the areas that support the body are made of hand-woven artificial rattan resilient to the outdoor conditions. The armchair is equipped with an integrated shelf under the seat for books and binoculars. Available in a wide range of weave patterns, this chair is a perfect seat for patios, gardens and pool sides.
